Back cover blurb:

Three wonderful stories of love, passion...and military duty. It's triple trouble when three identical sisters make a vow to stay the hell away from men in uniform. It's just too bad they can't seem to keep their hands off them.

Finding Orion by Alyssa Brooks

Worrywart Lily intends to keep the vow she made with her sisters. She will never, ever marry a military man.

Until now, her secret attraction to her good friend, Hunter, had been purely physical. Seeing him in his uniform drove her crazy, but it was nothing she couldn't deal with. Then he starts acting weird, putting the moves on her. She tries her best to resist him, but her best is not enough.

Has he done everything in life he wanted too? Hunter was sure of the answer to that question when Lily first asked it. Becoming an astronaut was fulfilling his every dream. But after a conversation with his Grandfather, it sinks in. Hunter has not done everything in life. He has not done Lily...quite literally. Love hits him all at once. Suddenly he must have her. Marry her. Have a child with her. And he must do it before he goes into space. The only trouble is convincing Lily of it.

A night of too much celebrating and wine ends up with them in bed. Suddenly Lily is pregnant and plagued with very real, very sexy dreams. Even so, she swears to resist Hunter and keep her promise.

Some promises are meant to be broken.

Mau Loa Ko'u Aloha (Forever My Love) by Melissa Schroeder

Daisy, Dee to all her friends, has always had a crush on Mano. Sinfully delicious, he tempts her in the worst way. Mano, whose call sign is The Shark, is dedicated to his Air Force career. And, he has his own hang-ups about marriage and the military. After a night of drinking, they fall into bed together and after a night of mind blowing love making, they can't keep their hands off each other. But there is trouble in paradise when they both have to decide which is more important: their convictions or their love.

Wounded Hearts by Karen Monroe

Lieutenant Holly Burton doesn't have time for men...especially men in uniform. A top-notch psychiatrist, she can dissect the true nature of a person in mere moments. Problem: She can't understand why her own emotions have gone haywire at the sight of one tall, luscious Navy SEAL.

Dominant, overbearing and extremely good looking, Commander Scott Gilcrist has managed to knock down every single one of her defenses. Problem: She's supposed to be evaluating him for duty.

If Holly isn't careful, she may be the one laying down--for some serious ... sexual therapy!
